

General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR)

In order for The American Women's Organization of Greece (AWOG) to be compliant, we must have releases from all members in order to collect data about them. This includes keeping a members list which is required by Greek law and includes the members in a members' book which is kept current each year for as long as you are a member. This book is held only by the Treasurer and Membership Secretary and must be kept on hand in case of an audit of the Organization. This list is not shared with third parties and is required in order for you to be a member.

A list of members in good standing is also seen by the Assistant Treasurer, Constitution Chair, Secretary and President. The list of members' names is necessary for sign-in/voting purposes of members only at General Assemblies. It is also necessary for the accounting purposes of the organization insofar as how much money in dues is received.

Additionally, we have a Facebook page which is not a public page, but open to AWOG members and friends only, on which photos of events or visitations may be posted - including pictures you are in. We have a website which has a privacy provision and your photos and name may be on the private members only part of the website from events and visitations conducted. You will need to register to become a member of the website and invitations to register are sent to all current members. If you do not want your photos published, please do not pose for them. Each year non-members will be removed from the website.
